POPULAR VISITOR

HAS RATION BOOK

Take your ration books on summer trips when you are visiting friends or relatives for a few days. At lakes and resorts hostesses must exchange coupons for rationed commodities, and the thoughtful guest will bring his book when he is week-ending or spending an extended visit. Loose coupons should not be taken, as they are valueless in the hands of consumers and may not be legally accepted by retailers.

Nurses and others who are continuously on duty in households, should also give their ration books to the householder during their stay.

Don Brewster, former Michel-Natal teacher, is reported missing in action. He always took an active part in sports, especially basketball. He was also diligent in the field of politics, forming the Michel-Natal Young Liberal Association and working actively in the recent East Kootenay election.

PASTOR IS FAREWELLED

At a largely attended meeting of members and adherents of Central United church in the auditorium on Friday evening last, a fitting send-off was accorded Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Arrol and daughter Elsie, who have been occupants of the manse for the past six years.

The chair was occupied by Mr. Sam McDowell, and a varied programme of vocal and instrumental music was much enjoyed, including vocal contributions by Mrs. Jack Boorman and Mrs. Alfred McKay, and violin and piano selections by Jackie Patterson and Elsie Arrol, respectively. Short addresses followed by Mr. McDowell, Mr. W. H. Chappell and Mr. D. MacPherson, touching briefly on the work of Mr. Arrol during his six years pastorate here.

In presenting Mrs. Arrol with a beautiful leather handbag, and well-filled purse, Mrs. J. Angus Macdonald made mention of her consistent work in the church and the Red Cross Society, also expressing the good wishes of the ladies of the congregation, while Mr. McDowell presented Mr. Arrol with a beautiful travelling bag. Luncheon was served by the Ladies Aid.

On Sunday, at the close of the regular session of the Junior Sunday school, and on behalf of the Sunday school teachers and scholars, Mrs. S. G. Bannan presented Elsie Arrol with a beautiful picture of Crow's Nest mountain.

Sunday evening's service took very much the form of a farewell, with a brief address by Mr. Arrol and vocal and instrumental selections, concluding with the singing of that old Sanskey favorite, "God be with you till we meet again." The church was well filled for this final send-off.

Mr. and Mrs. Arrol and Elsie left by Tuesday afternoon's train for their new home at Tobymory, Ontario, via Toronto.

Mr. Arrol's successor, Rev. James McKelvey, arrived from Cardston on Thursday and his induction as pastor of Central United church took place last night. Mr. McKelvey will be in charge of the Sunday evening service.

DO YOUR BEST

Do the best you can for the boys who come back.

You will never regret it, I know. They have helped to fight your battles and mine,

So help them wherever you go.

The terror, agony, sorrow and pain.

They have suffered for you and for me;

The mud and filth, mud and rain

On the battlefields over the sea.

They cared not in danger, tho' it lurked everywhere.

From shells, shrapnel and gun.

So determined were they in the terrible play.

To conquer the Jap and the Hun.

They are maimed, weak, lame and blind.

Or they would not return to our land.

They have done their bit, and have earned the best.

Let them have it, our veteran band.

And others are still in the fight over there.

Wholly come back to me and to you,

Oh, don't let them say while they were away

We've not done what we promised to do.

If you do your best, your best won't seem much.

When you think of all they have done.

To help me to live in a great land of peace.

Far away from the Jap and the Hun.

—Ruth Howe, Blairmore.

CANADA'S NEW BUDGET

Finance Minister J. L. Flisley brought down his new budget in the House of Commons at Ottawa on Monday. The new budget contains measures of taxation relief to Canadian taxpayers in general and to farmers in particular. Some of the new budgetary highlights are: Compulsory savings portion of income tax discontinued from July 1, 1944.

The budget has no tax increases. Government's cash requirements for 1944-45 are estimated at six billion, or two hundred million more than last year.

All tariffs on farm machinery, as well as ten per cent war exchange tax, removed.

Borrowing requirements in 1944-45 will be $3,200,000,000, or 320 million more than last year.

Revenues for the present year are estimated at $2,617,000,000, compared with $2,701,000,000 last year, not including refundable taxes.

Expenditures estimates already before parliament total $5,152,000,000, or 280 million less than actual expenditures last year.

Large unanticipated expenses in most active phases of the war will increase cash requirements to six billion and make estimated budgetary deficit unimportant.

Need for voluntary savings is greater than ever before, due to increased requirements and cessation of compulsory savings.

Tax allowance for children will cover all children dependent on taxpayer, including illegitimate children.

Business firms may borrow on the refundable portions of the excess profits and corporation tax.

Provision made for rapid depreciation on new assets for tax purposes. Business concerns granted double depreciation on new capital investment after certain date.

Losses in any year may be charged back one year or forward three years.

BACK TO CIVIL LIFE

The objective of Canada's plan for the rehabilitation of her armed forces is that every man or woman discharged from the forces shall be in a position to earn a living.

The policy has been carried out with that in mind. The plan consists of giving discharged service personnel, where possible, the necessary skill and training to help themselves.

Financial security is assured while training or while seeking employment, and financial assistance is given to those who embark on private enterprise during the period they are awaiting returns from that enterprise.

There is medical treatment for those in need of it, and there is financial assistance during the period of treatment and compensation by way of pension for those handicapped in civil life as a result of war service.

Canada wants its sailors, soldiers and airmen, and members of the various women's services to take the widest possible advantage of the facilities which have been made available to them.

Further particulars are given in a booklet just published under authority of the Canadian minister of pensions and national relief.

A near capacity audience greeted Froda Antrobus' appearance in the Coleman community hall on Wednesday night of last week. The recital was sponsored by the Coleman Lions Club. Quite a number from Blairmore attended.

for corporation or excess profits tax. One-half expenditure for maintenance and repairs in period to be fixed may be allowed against income of previous fiscal periods in computing corporation and excess profits taxes.

Period for income tax appeals from members of armed forces extended from 30 days to a year.

"In-laws" will qualify as dependent relatives for income tax purposes.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

The Cowley Young People's Society staged a very successful dance in the Cowley opera house on Thursday night last.

A new hitching rack to accommodate horses driven or ridden in from the country has recently been constructed just back of the firehall.

Little Margaret Anne Parry underwent an appendix operation in St. Vincent's hospital at Pincher Creek on Saturday. Mrs. Parry, who is teaching the junior room of the village school, has been granted leave to be with the child during her illness.

Mrs. Stanley Snyder and three children, and Mrs. Leslie Day and two children, were recent visitors with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wood, at Cranbrook.

Mrs. Green, who had spent several weeks visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McMillan, left for her home in Lethbridge on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Easterbrook and two children, of Delacour, paid a visit to relatives here the early part of the week.

After two weeks' army leave, spent with relatives here, P. Swager, accompanied by his wife and small daughter, left Wednesday to return to Harrison Hot Springs, B.C.

Mrs. William Wycliffe, of the North Fork, left Thursday by train to visit her daughter, Mrs. Charles Upton, and family in Vancouver.

George Ingraham, after a sojourn at St. John, N.B., for about two years, returned here on Wednesday.

The Market Day sale and bazaar held at Lundbreck on Wednesday proved a huge success, the weather man being considerate. Although country roads were rough from recent heavy rains, a large crowd was in attendance. All kinds of miscellaneous articles were heaped on booths around the hall, with ready sales by the chattering crowd. Ice cream, soft drinks and tea were served from artistically decorated tables, while outside William Cochrane was doing a roaring business selling beneath the hammer when he auctioned off farm produce, all readily selling at good prices. The day was concluded with a well attended dance in the evening to music supplied by the Air Force Band from Macleod, who also rounded out the afternoon with a number of melodious tunes. At present writing we are unable to give the amount of net proceeds. As all articles were donated, the results will be very good.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

Compensation paid by an employer to an employee, whether as payment in lieu of notice in the case of discharge, or as a gratuity in the case of voluntary separation of an employee from his employment, will no longer be regarded as wages or salary in respect of which employment insurance contributions must be made, according to latest advice. The instruction follows a ruling of the department of justice, which has interpreted the Unemployment Insurance Act to require contributions only in regard to earnings paid in relation to the period of time when a person is actually in employment. At the same time the commission has pointed out, to its field officers, that an employee will be deemed to be employed, for the purpose of the act, on any day for which a vacation or on account of sickness, where leave is given in pursuance of the contract of employment between employer and employee. In collecting contributions under the act, field officers are now instructed to observe these interpretations of the law.

$200,000 HOSPITAL FOR PASS BEING PLANNED

Plans are being made for a 100-bed district hospital for this end of the Crows' Nest Pass, to be located between Blairmore and Coleman. The estimated cost is given at $200,000, and the building is to be completed within the next twelve months.

Work on the hospital, which will serve Coleman, Blairmore, Bellevue, Hillcrest, Frank and suburbs, will start soon, it is reported. In addition to clinical services, the building will be equipped with a maternity ward and nurses' dormitory.

The committee includes Enoch Williams, mayor of Blairmore, and local miners secretary; Max Stigler, secretary of the Coleman miners union, and Jack Dugdale, secretary of the Bellevue union. They have already received approval of the Blairmore town council and the government health bureau.

The hospital will be run on a monthly contributory basis. Each miner and those working in the district logging industry will pay a flat rate and will thus be assured medical care as far as the facilities of the institution will permit.

Beautiful tiger lilies were brought in from the foothills over the week end.

Shown above is Miss Margaret Freeman, of No. 1 RCAF Wireless School, Montreal, now home to Macleod on leave. She graduated after completing a course as wireless operator.

Miss Freeman is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Freeman, of Macleod, who have another daughter, LIAW Irene Freeman, in the RCAF stationed at Scoudou, Nova Scotia. She was a civilian stenographer for three years at No. 7 SPTS before enlisting. Margaret is believed to be the first Macleod girl receiving her sparks.

Mrs. B. Semler and Mrs. W. Patterson, of Blairmore, and Mrs. Herman, of Maple Leaf, are aunts.

E. WILLIAMS MENTIONED AS LABOR NOMINEE

At a recent meeting of the Blairmore miners the political situation was discussed, the outcome of which was a decision to put a strong labor man in the field to contest the Crows' Nest-Pincher Creek riding.

The name of Enoch Williams, mayor of Blairmore, was submitted and will be given consideration at further district meetings.

He ran on the Labor ticket in the provincial election in 1940, when he was defeated by the present sitting member, E. O. Duke, Social Credit.

HILLCREST BOY MARRIED OVERSEAS

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gardiner, of Hillcrest, of the marriage overseas of their eldest son, Gunner Andrew Gardiner, to Ellen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Powell, 27 Hampshire Ave., Eugene Regis. Following the ceremony, a short honeymoon was spent at Watford and Brighton.

OUR COMPLETE
SHORT STORY—The Honor Of Yee Shan Yee

By RALPH ZANCHI

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Yee Shan Yee placed the package beneath the counter. With a few deft strokes of the brush he marked the ticket.

"Fry Friday, can do." His smeared yellow face wrinkled in a smile. But the skin over his cheeks felt as stiff as plaster and his heart was heavy. Surely the white man must see the treachery of that smile.

But Stephen Holiday merely pocketed the laundry check and walked out. This, too, hurt. For fifteen years, ever since Stephen, a young law student, had first brought Yee his laundry, he had always stopped to chat with the old man. But now there was going to be an election and Stephen would become District Attorney. He still brought the laundry; but he no longer talked.

Yee returned to his work, his thoughts racing back and forth as rapidly as the steaming iron he piled, when the doorbell tinkled, announcing another customer.

Yee viewed the lady with genuine pleasure. She was slender with frank gray eyes and an easy, friendly manner. He had approved of her from the start.

"Ho, Missy Alice," he counted out her change. "You an' Miss' Stephen mally soon?" Again he forced himself to smile. He had been very happy when his two favorites had told him they were engaged, and had promised them a wedding present. The gift, a beautiful ox-blood bowl a half-thousand years old, was his most cherished possession.

"Oh, yes, I'm so worried," Alice sighed. "The crooked politicians are out to get Stephen. And the closer it is to election the worse their lies are. Steve's behaving like a perfect idiot. He won't marry me until he's cleared himself. A certain gambler is supposed to have given him five thousand dollars."

Five thousand dollars! Yee trembled like a willow in a winter wind. "G'bye, Missy Alice," he said hurriedly. "Velly busy today."

For the first time in his life Yee closed and locked the door of his laundry in the middle of the day. He retired to the back room where he sat long, his twisted face revealing his inward struggle. Finally he rose and took from a closet his old felt hat and an equally ancient coat. In his pocket he put a document adorned with a large seal. Letting himself out the back door he walked toward the heart of the city, a region he seldom visited.

Calm was in his heart. There would be no more days of shame, no more nights of anguish. For Yee Shan Yee, a man who had been honorable, and lost his honor, was about to regain it.

It had happened a month before. Stephen had brought a package of laundry. The day was hot and he carried his coat under his arm. As he went out a small envelope fell from the coat to the floor. Yee called to him, but Stephen was already boarding a bus.

Yee had examined the envelope—it contained ten crisp new five-hundred-dollar bills!

Yee's first impulse had been to take the money to Stephen. He had worked hard all his life and was honest to the core. He had never cheated anyone out of a copper cent in China nor a copper cent in America. But an idea overpowered him.

Stephen was prosperous. The loss of this money would not hurt him much. But in Yee's homeland, where starving millions were fighting desperately for their country, five thousand dollars would accomplish miracles. Yee had sent the savings of twenty years to buy rice for the foodless. He had even sold the cheap photograph on which he liked to play "The Peach that Bloomed" by the bubbling well, to remind him of his boyhood in Kwantung Province. And the few dollars it brought were on their way to China, also.

Five thousand dollars! He was unable to resist. That evening he mailed it to an address in San Francisco. It was only when he read the receipt thanking him for his sacrifices that he realized he had dishonored himself and far worse—his country.

Yee Shan Yee did not spare himself now. He told Stephen the facts unemotionally, asked for no pity. "I am a thief," he said sadly. "But I'll make it."

He handed Stephen the document he had brought. It was a life insurance policy for five thousand dollars.

"For you, my family in China all dead. Killed by bombs. Tonight I go to my people. Tomorrow you give five thousand dollars."

"But, Yee, you old mummy," Stephen said, "you've saved my name! That five thousand dollars was marked money that someone slipped in my pocket, to frame me. If it had been found when they searched my house, I'd have been ruined. Since you've told me the date you found it I know who put it there. The only man who had a chance that day was Tim Donovan. Now I know he's the brains behind the gambling ring I'm fighting!"

Yee Shan Yee did not understand all this. But he knew that somehow he had taken dishonorable money and made it honorable. As he shuffled back to his laundry his wrinkled face beamed with a blissful smile. He must buy a suitable wrapper for the ox-blood bowl. For Stephen had said when they parted:

"Now remember, Yee Shan Yee. As the guest of honor it's your duty to arrive early for the wedding."

SAFETY MEASURE

The house of lords has a red-bordered carpet marking the limits where a member may stand when addressing the gathering, and it is believed the carpet was set in the days when men carried swords, so that a safe distance would be allowed in case of altercations.

About Charcoal

Has Many Uses, According To Reports Made By Scientists

Charcoal is a potent shield against poison gas, according to recent statements made by scientists. An essential part of every respirator is the filter filled with specially-prepared charcoal.

Charcoal helps to control and raise the temperature of furnaces used in many of the processes in the development of armored steel. Six hundred years ago when Roger Bacon, the famous scientist, made gunpowder, it was charcoal mixed with saltpeter and sulphur that he used. Explosives are now being produced that makes the force of gunpowder seem like a twenty-fourth of May firecracker. Nevertheless, charcoal is still used in many explosives.

The nature of charcoal varies according to the wood from which it is made. Hard woods such as oak, ash, or chestnut make the type most in demand today, but softer woods such as willow, produce charcoal that is used by the optical industry in Britain for polishing jobs.

The charcoal burners of Britain cut their own timber from the branches of trees and lay it on a circular hearth they have cleared in the forest. In the center there is an upright pole, afterwards removed, which leaves space for a natural chimney as the wood pile is built up in a conical form to a height of about 10 feet. When the layers of wood have been placed in this manner, the whole pile is covered with earth and ashes from a previous hearth so that when the wood is set on fire there is only a limited supply of air to help it burn.

When the charcoal burner has finished his work, and taken the charcoal to market it has to be prepared for the buyer by grading it into sizes from lumps of about two inches to dust that will pass through screens of 120 holes to an inch.

The dust, made into bricks, is used in Britain's hospitals in portable enclosed stoves so that food is delivered hot to patients. Such is the versatility of charcoal in wartime service!

Visual Education

Four New Films On Canada For The Schools

Four new films about Canada, produced by the Ertel film company, have been added to the audio-visual aids library and will be available to Saskatchewan schools at the beginning of the fall term, officials of the department of education announced recently. The films deal with the four different sections of Canada under the titles, "Pacific Province", "Prairie Provinces", "Industrial Canada", and "Maritime Provinces". The films give a "bird's eye view" of the relative importance of various Canadian industries.

In addition to the Ertel films, several new films from the National Film Board of Canada have been placed in the audio-visual aids library. They include films dealing with the Niagara Peninsula, Prince Edward Island, uses of glass in the modern world, forestry, co-operation and the life of the North American Indians.

One-third of the area of the United States is owned by the government.

Job Is Dangerous

Modern War Correspondent Takes Some Risk As Soldier

Dave Boone, in the New York Sun, describes the modern war correspondent like this:

What a difference there is between a war correspondent in this war and in the old days. Now he gets into more tough spots than most of the soldiers got into in the early wars.

When you spoke of a war correspondent years ago you thought of a carefully groomed, highly polished, gentleman with a tent pretty well behind the front who was a reasonably safe insurance risk.

Today he's just another target for everything that's being thrown. He's a Ranger with pad and pencil. He gets everything a I-A gets, except kitchen police.

The modern war correspondents are no glimmer boys with cozy jobs. They're rough-and-tumble, hard-boiled, two-tailed fellows who get so hard that bullets bounce off their hides.

Has Proved Success

Children's Clothing Exchange In England To Be Continued

Wartime necessity in England has developed a scheme that will be maintained after the war to aid the mothers of large families. It is the children's clothing exchange operated by Women's Volunteer services where mothers of children who outgrow their clothes before they are worn out may trade them for other clothing. The plan has worked so successfully that requests are made to continue the scheme after the war.

SALVAGE

Waste paper is still Canada's foremost salvage need—20,000 tons a month are required. The short supply of waste paper is holding up orders for vital paper products needed in the war effort. Newspaper, wrappings, bags, cardboard, old magazines, corrugated boxes are most vitally needed.

The Housefly

Is One Of The Greatest Enemies Of Public Health

The common housefly is one of the greatest enemies of public health. It is well-known that dysentery, infantile diarrhea, typhoid, and tuberculosis have been carried by flies and it has been demonstrated that flies may be the possible spreaders of infantile paralysis. They breed in filth, they feed on filth, and pass directly from the foulest of filth to human food, carrying bacteria and particles of decomposing matter on their hairy bodies and sticky feet and mouth. Yet they are tolerated in some homes and in some shops offering human food and fruit for sale.

The most effective method of combating the housefly is to destroy its breeding places. This is best done through community action involving the proper care and disposal of manure, garbage and other waste materials. A leaflet outlining the methods to employ may be obtained free of charge from the Publicity and Extension Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. It is especially important to protect foodstuffs from contamination by flies. Doors and windows should be properly screened and flies that invade the home in spite of this should be promptly killed.

This Week's Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

As simple to sew as it is fun to run in, Pattern 4799 makes a dashing play suit. You'll want the trim jacket and button-front skirt, too.

Pattern 4799 comes in misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 14 takes 1 1/2 yds. 35-inch material for the brief top of play suit and shorts. Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern. Write plainly Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send orders to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man. "Because of the slowness of the mails delivery of our patterns may take a few days longer than usual."

INDIAN ARMY MEDICAL CORPS

The Indian Army Medical Corps, which now has 300 major field units, has attached an Army Nursing Service. Women doctors and nurses, as well as men, are eligible for service wherever Indian units are in action. Many new medical schools have been opened.

They Learn Fast

Boys Ask Rescued Airmen If They Had Any Chewing Gum

A few days ago, after a rather hectic flight over enemy territory, the crew of a Fortress had to leave their aircraft in the "drink". They made their way ashore in their dinghy, which was far from being a pleasant operation.

As they walked on to the promenade at a South Coast town they were besieged by a host of youngsters who, crowding round, asked the somewhat tired airmen, "Have you any chewing gum, mister?"—Brighton Evening Argus.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS—

The sergeant gardener at Currie Barracks in Calgary was hoeing the lilacs bushes outside of the officer's quarters recently. Playfully, he threatened to "dig up" a CWAC who dared to appear in the doorway. The threat was hardly off his lips when a khaki skirt appeared on the steps. As good as his word, the sergeant turned his hoe with full vent on the offender. His consternation knew no bounds when he suddenly noticed a crown on the soaked cap of the CWAC and recognized Major Doris Weston, Officer Commanding 113 Depot Company. He apologized profusely. "Oh, that's all right," the O.C. replied brightly. "I wouldn't do the same thing myself."

G. I. BID—

Prove that a soldier is really on duty 24 hours a day was furnished recently by Capt. Patricia Hamel, Officer Commanding a C.W.A.C. unit in Regina, Sask. In the midst of an engraving bridge game, the officer positioned her chair, drummed on the table, and finally got ready to bid. "One corporal," she said.

PERSONALITY

"Miss you," is the theme song of Corporal Dorothy Sage of Saskatoon, Sask., and the object of her affection is a motive recruiting unit the "History Bakers". As C.W.A.C. recruiting N.C.O. she travelled through the province with the soldiers, gradually adding the duties of "chief cook and bottle-washer" to her own work. Now the troops are ditching their members have laid aside their musical instruments for the weapons of war. "Who'd darn their socks and sew their buttons?" Dorothy asks mournfully, doubtful that the sergeant major will be a mother to the boys.

SPORTS—

A good athlete doesn't need to pick her spot or sport the same song as Le-Cpl. Margaret Young of Kelowna, Man., gave support to this theory at a recent sports program at Fort Garry, Man. Showing all-round ability, Margaret won the 75 yard dash, the high jump, ball throw and running broad jump. To top it all, she aided her team in winning the 60 yard shuttle race.

JAMAICA CWACS—

"Friends and pals forever," sums it up for Beverly Moyston and Everett Jones, who left their homes in Jamaica, last January to enlist in the C.W.A.C. Inseparable in school and in business they saved and planned together until they were ready for the 3,000-mile trip to Toronto, Ont. The girls graduated from high school together and were both employed as stenographers for the Jamaican government prior to their enlistment. ## Fought Germans To Stand Still

These are the types of Canadian paratroopers who fought the Nazis to a stand still and helped pave the way to successful Allied operations on D-Day. At the left, one of them goes "overboard" as the camera snaps a picture at a 600th-of-a-second. In the centre is Lieut. R. C. Hillborn, getting his harness checked by Major, the Hon. R. Fraser, before he takes

HERE'S HOW TO KILL YOUR CLUB OR ORGANIZATION

Following is a list of "don'ts" for the person who is trying to "kill" an organization, gleaned from the Maritime Co-Operator:

Don't go to the meetings. If you do go, go late. It's bad weather, don't think of going. When you go, find fault with the other officers.

Never accept an office. Instead, sit back and criticize those who do. If you are appointed to a committee, don't go to the next meeting; if you are not appointed, get peeved about it.

When your opinion is asked, reply that you have nothing to say. After the meeting tell everybody how you think things have been done.

Don't do anything that is absolutely necessary. When others do the lion's share of the work spread the report that the organization is run by a clique.

Don't bother about getting new members. Let the ones who are doing all the rest of the work do that, too.

Don't hurry about paying your dues. Wait until you have received two or three notices.

HOW MUCH IS A BILLION?

Very few people have any appreciation of the vastness of a billion dollars. Recently a good example was given by a layman and which is impressive. If a man had a billion dollars when Christ was born, and decided to enter business, in which he lost at the rate of a thousand dollars a day, he not only would still be in business, but could remain in business for another eight hundred years before the billion was exhausted.

people stopped buying because they thought prices would go still lower.

merchandise dropped in value—retailers went bankrupt.

factories closed and unemployment followed.

distress was general and deflation was in the saddle.

That is why in this war prices are controlled—so that they will not ruin buyers in a rise or sellers in a slump.

Price ceilings—wage and salary controls—rationing—Victory Bonds—increased taxation—are all part of a grand strategy to head off inflation—thus preventing deflation.

An Expanding Power

"CANADA IS NO LONGER a small nation, she is a great power, and that has come about not by any political manoeuvring, but by the sheer weight of her war effort." This statement was made by the Governor General, the Earl of Athlone, in an address delivered in Regina, during his recent visit to the West. His Excellency also expressed the hope that Canada's role in the restoration of peace would be "equally sincere, equally substantial, and equally effective." This was a fine tribute to Canada's part in the winning of the war, and one which has been widely appreciated. It is generally agreed that participation in the war has brought the people of Canada to a fuller realization of their abilities and of their importance as a nation, and it is to be hoped that none of this national consciousness will be lost when peace is restored.

Many Supplies Sent Overseas

Canada's part in the landing of the Allied armies of liberation has been proof of her growing strength, and great credit has been given to all branches of the service which played such an important and effective role in that great undertaking. Manpower, however, was not Canada's only contribution, for according to recent information given out by Hon. James Macdonald, Trade Minister, an "all out" effort was made to send food and fighting equipment to Britain before the invasion commenced. During the month of May, $140,249,000 worth of goods was exported to the United Kingdom. In the same month, $19,864,000 worth of foodstuffs and military supplies was sent to Italy for the great drive which resulted in the capture of Rome and the rout of the Nazis from that area.

Increase In All Exports

Motorized equipment, locomotives, ammunition, many types of guns, aircraft parts and textiles were among the many articles shipped from Canada for the great Allied offensive in Europe. Large quantities of food were also sent during the month before the invasion began. Wheat shipments during this period were valued at $45,100,000, as compared to $25,400,000 in May 1943. Flour shipments reached the total of $10,300,000; oats, $12,100,000; bacon, $21,900,000; fresh beef, $2,600,000; and dried eggs, $2,500,000. All these figures show a very substantial increase over shipments in the same month of the previous year, and demonstrate that Canada has indeed provided much material support for the armed forces. We must continue this effort not only in winning the war, but in solving the many problems which will arise in the years to come.

A Busy Life

The Time Of This Weekly Newspaper Editor Appears To Be Fully Occupied

Should you have a notion that the life of a country editor is a cushy one, listen to the lament of one of our weekly newspaper editors at Viking, Alberta. He writes:

"This week the publisher of this paper is lousy operator, machine, pressman, adman, jobman, stenographer, bookkeeper and reporter. We are also process issuer, keeper of the records for the income tax branch, the unemployment insurance branch, the Workmen's Compensation Board, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, the Malta air cadet squadron, and publicity chairman for the Sixth Victory Loan. We attend meetings of the hospital board, sing in the choir, and in our spare time we listen to the tough time the other guys are having."—Maclean's Magazine.

Blitz Technique On Garden Seeds

Experienced gardeners say that it is very important to destroy weeds when they are small to prevent them from using up the moisture and plant food that should be going to the young and growing vegetables. Hoeing during the bright summer day may not be very comfortable, but it's the right kind of weather for establishing a beachhead for further attacks. The enemies of the seedlings in the garden can be held in check and systematically exterminated with a flick of the wrist if they dare show their heads. Those which are strong enough to resist hoeing manoeuvres should be destroyed before their seeds have had a chance to turn into reinforcements.

Night Fighter Technique

Cause Of Failure To Interfere With Invasion Preparations

The complete failure of the recent German raids, which attempted to destroy invasion preparations is no mystery. The Air Ministry foresaw long ago that invasion dumps and troop concentrations would make tempting targets, and so set about their preparations accordingly. The cause of the Luftwaffe's failure is the development of the R.A.F. night fighter technique.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—I live alone and find a pound of coffee is too much to buy at one time. Is there any way I can buy half a pound, give my grocer one coupon, and buy the other half-pound later on?

A.—No, ration coupons are required each time you buy rationed foods. However, you can always buy half a pound of coffee and 2 oz. of tea with one tea-coffee coupon.

Q.—My son recently came home on ten days' leave. He brought a ration card with him, but my grocer refused to accept the coupons in it. Can he do this?

A.—Yes he can, if you presented those coupons. All coupons, to be acceptable must be attached to a ration book or ration card.

Q.—My grocer will not accept tea coupons which I still have in my No. 3 book. Is he correct?

A.—No, he is quite wrong. All tea-coffee coupons in your No. 3 book are still good for the purchase of tea or coffee. They will remain valid until an expiry date is announced.

Q.—Are the prices of strawberries and raspberries controlled?

A.—Yes, price ceilings for Canadian-grown strawberries and raspberries were set on May 29 and remain controlled until September 30. Canada is divided into three zones, and Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are included in zone three.

Prices for quarts and pints are less after June 17 than they were for the period May 29 to June 17, when the berries were not as plentiful. Imported berries are also placed under the same ceiling as Canadian-grown berries for the period June 5 to September 30.

Jap News Unreliable

Soldiers' Relatives Warned Against Messages That Are Not Official

In announcing the Government was forwarding to relatives any apparently genuine message coming from Canadian prisoners in Japanese hands, the Wartime Information Board warned against placing too much credence in Japanese broadcasts.

A W.I.B. statement added: "Such messages may be released by the enemy for some propaganda purposes and their reliability is, therefore, always questionable."

"Sometimes recordings are made of prisoners' voices, but these may be delayed for some considerable time before being released by the enemy. In addition, cases have been reported of unscrupulous persons who listened to broadcasts from Japan, then write the text of kin mentioned and offer for a consideration to send them the message that has been sent out."

"Other people, with no ulterior motive, frequently write next of kin to tell them of messages picked up. This is unnecessary, as the official handling of such messages is very thorough and next of kin are informed of all apparently reliable messages that come through, as well as of all other information concerning their prisoner-relatives."

"The United States Government has set up a similar organization with respect to American prisoners in Japanese hands."

The Next War

Germany Making Plans Even Now For Another Attempt At World Domination

Whenever one hears, and it will be heard, talk of an honorable peace for Germany, the past should be remembered above all things. Safeguards taken. The London Bureau of the Ottawa Journal reports that there is good evidence that the Germans are actually now thinking of and planning how to wage the next war. A significant fact in corroboration of this mentality and outlook is that German scientists have carefully studied the effects of the bombardment of Berlin and other German cities, and are devising ways and means whereby these places may be rebuilt on bombproof lines.

Berlin has announced that at the end of this war all German cities will be constructed of fireproof materials. Every roof is to have its swimming pool, for use in peacetime for exercise and recreation, but in wartime as a reserve of water to deal with incendiary attacks by air. Houses will be constructed of steel and reinforced concrete, and even the household furniture will be fireproof. This is proof, if indeed proof were needed, that the Germans, realizing that they cannot win the present war, are looking ahead to waging yet another and better one.

Those people who refuse to believe in the inherent belligerence of the modern Hun will find it hard to reconcile these facts with their persistent and sentimental inhumanity. Nothing could be more certain than that, if we wish to avoid a third Great War, Germany, after the present one, must be effectually and permanently demilitarized, not only professionally but industrially.

Hitler once boasted of Russia having been laid low for one thousand years to come. It is just something like that which should be the portion of Germany.—St. Catharines Standard.

Hair Splitting

Human Hair Is Used In Making Cloth In Hungary

Wartime necessities in Hungary have developed a process whereby human hair is combined with rayon and hemp fiber in producing fabrics. Press reports indicate that during the past three years 600 meters of cloth for men's suits have been manufactured, as well as 2,500 blankets, 2,500 sweaters and 1,000 pairs of stockings.

The durability and cheapness of this type of cloth will ensure its use after the war, it is claimed.

HOW IT IS DONE

"Dr. Hans Tschelch died at the age of 75, in Kiel. His name will always be remembered in connection with the building of German submarines. Even when the inglorious end of the last war put a sudden stop to German U-boat construction, Tschelch managed to go abroad where he continued to design submarines. Thus he was able to develop his plans in undisturbed quietude, and in this way he was partly responsible for making available to Germany in 1935 modern and modern U-boat designs."—Der Neue Tag, Prague.

Modern library methods began with the rule of St. Benedict, early in the sixth century.

Rhubarb Crisp Pudding

Right now the rhubarb is at its best and most of us are looking for different ways to serve it. We all like rhubarb pie and many of us are satisfied with just stewed rhubarb. But for variety, and a recipe worth keeping on tap for the rhubarb season every year try this rhubarb crisp pudding. This recipe deals gently with your precious sugar supply too.

1/4 cup shortening 1 1/2 cups toasted bread cubes
1/2 cup sugar 2 cups All-Wheat
2 eggs 4 cups diced fresh rhubarb
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg 1/2 cup honey

Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly; add eggs and beat well. Add nutmeg and flavoring. Stir in bread cubes and cereal.

Put rhubarb in greased baking pan; drizzle honey over rhubarb. Cover with All-Wheat. Bake in individual servings (375 degrees F.) 35-40 minutes or until rhubarb is done. Serve warm with this cream.

Yield: 6 - 8 servings (10 x 6-inch baking pan).

Variation: Omit nutmeg and vanilla extract; use two teaspoons grated orange rind instead.

D-Day Brings Three B.C. Friends Together

It took the world's greatest sea-borne invasion to bring these three British Columbia friends together. Before the war they worked in the same factory in Trail, B.C. Gunner Alex Williamson of a Canadian artillery regiment, right, was hit in the arm by a sniper's bullet before his assault craft reached the French beachhead. Brought off again, he was transferred to the Royal Canadian Navy destroyer, H.M.C.S. Algonquin, which was joining in the bombardment of the beach. After the battle had died away, Williamson was visited in sick bay by his two friends from Trail. They are, left, Engineer Arthur John Dawson, of Kimberley, B.C., and fitter George Foster, of Nelson, B.C. The picture, taken on D-Day, just off the French coast was shown to Canada by bomb-

U.S. Navy Has Gained Control Of Pacific Area

WASHINGTON.—Possibly a score of the newest and biggest United States aircraft carriers are assigned to task force 58, declared by the navy to be history's "most powerful and destructive naval unit."

Rear Admiral Arthur W. Radford, acting deputy chief of naval operations for air, in a broadcast describing the giant force which routed the Japanese east of the Philippines, said "We can safely assume that most of the 23 big carriers commissioned since Pearl Harbor have been operating as part of the vast task force."

The navy announcement said that in addition to carriers, the force was made up of battleships, cruisers and destroyers. It has been given "the entire Pacific ocean to the gates of Japan as its stamping ground."

The navy's statement said a Japanese pilot saw the force "scattered over the sea as far as his eyes could see" and, when captured shortly thereafter, reported that "one look at task force 58 convinced him that Japan had lost the war."

More than 1,000 planes can be launched from the 1,250,000 square feet of aircraft carrier decks in the force.

"With Super Fortresses striking from the west and task force 58 from the east, the once impregnable Japanese homeland has at last come within range of strategic bombing forces," the navy said.

Vice-Admiral Marc A. Mitscher, 57-year-old flier, is commanding officer of the force, which is attached to the 9th fleet in the Pacific under command of Admiral Raymond A. Spruance.

TO BE DISCUSSED

Post-War Reconstruction On Program For Coming Conference

OTTAWA.—Some phases of post-war reconstruction will be discussed at the forthcoming Dominion-provincial conference, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said in the commons.

Answering Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative house leader, Mr. King said he did not know when the conference would be held, but he hoped that it would be held under circumstances which would permit all the provinces to attend.

Mr. King said he was not sure whether it would be advisable to wait until after the session to hold the conference.

"On the other hand, if parliament is going to continue in session until December 1 I think we ought to have the conference, and considerable time before that," he said.

PLANS CANCELLED

Former Luxury Liner Normandie Will Not Be Rebuilt

NEW YORK.—Shortages of manpower and critical materials have caused cancellation of plans to rebuild the U.S.S. Lafayette, formerly the luxury liner Normandie, which burned and sank at her pier in February, 1942. The U.S. navy department announced.

After the giant ship, refitted for use as a troop transport, had been raised at a cost of $3,750,000, her hull was repaired and she was taken to the Todd shipyards in Brooklyn.

Future plans for reconstructing the ship have not been announced by the navy, which said that manpower and materials which could have been used to refit the Lafayette have been diverted to more urgent needs.

COSTLY MISTAKE

Nazis Routed Up Loyal Vichy Supporters Instead Of Suspects

LONDON.—French underground sources said that when the Germans combed Paris and hauled hundreds of Frenchmen to concentration camps on D-Day, they discovered too late that they had rounded up the most loyal Vichyites instead of persons with Allied sympathies.

At the last moment, underground leaders succeeded in switching their own file of German collaborators for the Germans' list of suspects, these sources said.

NOT DAMAGED

ROME.—The famous Villa Napoleon and the Napoleon museum on the island of Elba were captured by the Allies intact, it was stated here. The Germans used the museum as a quarters depot.

SAWFLY MENACE

Flights Of Foes Have Started In Southern Alberta

LETHBRIDGE.—Wheat stem sawfly—the No. 1 insect pest of prairie farmers—has started laying potential damage to millions of acres of wheat in the plains area, Dominion government entomologists here reported.

Flights of the pest have started in southern Alberta and southern Saskatchewan and are steadily becoming heavier and more general.

Cool and damp weather has retarded sawfly flights considerably since the flies started to emerge less than two weeks ago but entomologists explain a few days of hot weather would give rise to exceptionally heavy flights.

During the flight period expected to last until about July 10, sawflies lay their eggs in wheat stems.

Comparatively heavy flights have been reported during the past few days in the Carmangay and Chin districts in southwestern Alberta.

Red Cross Plans To Send More Food Parcels

REGINA.—The Canadian Red Cross is increasing the number of food parcels sent to Europe from 100,000 to 180,000 parcels a week in order to increase the supply available for prisoners of Allied and occupied countries, principally Polish, Yugoslav, Greek, Free French and Belgian prisoners, said L. A. Winter, honorary controller of the National Red Cross Society, Toronto.

Mr. Winter was on his way east after visiting provincial Red Cross offices across Canada. He was in Regina for a two-day visit.

This food relief for prisoners in occupied countries is shared with the British Red Cross, the Red Cross societies of the other dominions and the American Red Cross, said Mr. Winter.

In speaking of aid to prisoners of war in Japan, Mr. Winter said that although continual efforts are being made to obtain the co-operation of Japan, the Red Cross had not had the full co-operation which should be expected under the international convention. Relief for prisoners in Japan has been confined largely to what has been sent on the Gripsholm and other relief ships; but the Red Cross is still hoping for more Japanese assistance.

While prisoner-of-war relief is the largest project in which the Red Cross is engaged, there is great activity in hospitals overseas, Mr. Winter said. Canadian Red Cross representatives and supplies have followed the Canadian troops into Sicily and Italy and will be with the invasion troops as soon as bases are established, he said.

Canada's Ammunition Program Is Being Pushed To New Heights

OTTAWA.—Canadian 25-pound batteries are pumping out ammunition in France and Italy at a rate that makes artillery duels of the First Great War comparable to pyrotechnic displays—and that, the munitions department said, is the reason Canada's ammunition program has been pushed to new heights.

W. L. Tregoning, director of ammunition production for the British ministry of supply, has recently completed a series of off-the-record talks to Canadian workers engaged in ammunition production. A call has gone out for 10,000 workers to help speed up ammunition production.

He told them the story behind Munition Minister Howe's recent announcement that ammunition production would have to reach new levels and he answered the thought in the minds of some armchair strategists that the United Nations must be running short of ammunition.

"The truth is that the Allies are far from running short of ammunition, but from battle experience the United Nations have found that devastating effects can be achieved by an increasing use of artillery fire," he said.

farmers than granting loans on a one-year basis.

Mr. Towers said farm credit was not unusually considered to be of the long-term type, but hundreds of thousands of such loans had been carried on for longer periods after the onset of the depression. But year after year the farmer might be unable to pay off his debt and there was a natural tendency for the bank to stop giving further loans as it would appear it was giving away funds.

Mr. Graham said there had been a tendency of bank branches to call in farm loans immediately. He regretted the banks had added to the velocity of the depression by such action.

Mr. Towers said that due to the service now available from the central bank, curtailment of credit due to banks' lack of cash would not prevail again.

Mr. Towers said loans like that granted Beuharnois had been made in 1926-1927 and 1928, and often were for the purpose of expansion. It had been expected the companies would be able to finance them readily, but actually the banks had to carry them for a considerable number of years. The loans had been granted in ignorance of "the world-wide catastrophe of 1930 and following years" of the depression.

Replying to John Blackmore, Social Credit house leader, Mr. Towers said there was no difference of opinion between them as to the use of currency expansion to meet the needs of government financing. The difference was as to the degree to which this should be substituted for taxation and interest-bearing borrowings.

FREE ALLIED AIRMEN

LONDON.—Ten Allied airmen were freed from Nazi captivity in the Yugoslav Partisan offensive gaining momentum in Hercegovina, a communication broadcast from Marshal Tito's Yugoslav headquarters said.

Canadian Tanks Big Factor In Beach Battle

WITH CANADIAN TANKS IN FRANCE.—From the beaches at Courseulles and Bernieres to the Caen-Bayeux highway 10 and 12 miles inland three Canadian tank regiments—the First Hussars, London, Ont., the Fort Garry Horse, Winnipeg, and the Sherbrooke Fusiliers—fought their beachhead battle alongside the Canadian Third division.

The support this formation with its Sherman tanks gave the infantry was one of the big factors in the splendid performance of the Canadians in the first week of the invasion when the enemy countered with heavy blows at positions northwest of Caen.

In the assault the most successful landing was made by the First Hussars who landed on the beaches at Courseulles where the western Canadian brigade—Royal Winnipeg Rifles, Regina Rifles, Canadian Scottish, Victoria—came ashore. The unit came in from a rough sea on time, and were practically under the muzzle of German anti-tank and field guns in concrete emplacements and dugout just back of the beach. They blasted shells at these defences and with the prairie infantrymen stormed through the sand dunes and worked their way into Courseulles where they helped to clear out the town.

Overcoming elaborate mine fields, they broke into open country behind Courseulles with the western brigade running alongside them or riding on the turrets and hulls. One column struck southwest to Bayville and on to Colombrere Sur Seulles, four miles inland, and another rode into Revers three miles south.

Snipers hiding in the wheat fields and in woods and buildings pegged away at them and several batteries of German 88's tried to hold them. But they took them on, one by one, with the infantry and as they got farther inland, found some 88's abandoned.

At Bernieres the Fort Garry Horse from Winnipeg landed in the assault but had tough luck because of a terrible sea and did not make the beach until the first infantry was ashore. But once they got on the beaches they went right to work striking inland to Talleville to cut the first lateral road along which were strong German gun positions.

The Fort Garry swung southeast to Douvres and Delivrande and briefly engaged a German strong point there which was not captured until 11 days later when Commandos and assault engineers took it.

By the night of D-Day these tanks reached Angerville, six miles south of the landing beach, and all the way they battled pockets of the enemy manning hidden guns. Anti-tank guns were sighted down every road leading to Caen, and each one meant skirmish and sometimes took an hour or two to wrinkle out.

GERMAN LOSSES

7,800,000 Killed And Captured On The Russian Front

LONDON.—The Soviet information bureau, in a review on the third anniversary of the German attack on Russia, reported more than 7,800,000 Germans have been killed and captured in the three years of fighting.

During that same period, said the review, broadcast from Moscow and recorded in London by the Soviet monitor, Russian losses totalled 5,300,000 men, killed, missing or captured.

NOT SUCCEEDING

Nazis Are Using New Rocket Propelled Anti-Tank Shell

WITH THE BRITISH ADVANCE FORCES IN NORMANDY.—The Germans are using another new weapon on this front but it is not succeeding.

It is a rocket propelled anti-tank shell which can be used by infantry and only one man is needed to fire it. The weapon consists of a tube four feet long with an 88-mm. shell at the nose. Several of these shells have been captured.

MAY NEED TERRITORY

NEW YORK.—Foreign Minister Beelo van Kleffens of the Netherlands suggests in the July issue of Foreign Affairs that if the Germans continue defensive flooding of Holland she may need a grant of German territory for survival after the war. The foreign minister said 45 per cent of the Netherlands was subject to flooding.
